

Copyright policy

Unless otherwise stated, all text and images featured on this website are copyright Christian Education or RE Today and are protected by the UK Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

If you copy material from this website or from any of our publications for your own personal use, please respect the following requirements:

- Do not change the content in any way.
- The author or editor's name should be displayed prominently.
- The copyright line (see inside front cover of our publications) should be retained at the end of the material.

We normally give free permission for the use of our material in assemblies or acts of worship, but please contact us first to find out whether we administer the copyright.

For all other uses, commercial or otherwise, please contact us on 0121 458 3313 or email sales@retoday.org.uk.
